

TURKEY DEFIES AXIS AS SHOWDOWN NEAR

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

Shades of the past dug up from a victory garden... and how appropriate... a two pound cannon ball.

W. B. Lemmons brought the relic of the Civil War into the office... said it had been dug up in the yard of his father's old home on South Fayette Street when the ground was being turned for a victory garden... it was perfectly round and about three inches in diameter... and had been brought back from the war between the states by his father, S. B. Lemmons, when he came marching home three-quarters of a century ago... it disappeared years ago, he said... His sister, Mrs. Harry Miller and Mr. Miller live in the old place now.

I couldn't help but think how different modern war is as I read Associated Press reports coming in by telegraph of the two-ton bombs being dropped by American boys from high-flying airplanes on Italy and Germany thousands of miles from their homes... the cannon ball would look like a pee-wee compared to the huge projectiles fired by modern artillery.

"These bicycles left sprawling over the sidewalk, chiefly by irresponsible children have grown out of the nuisance stage to a menace to public safety" complained a man on Court Street as he stumbled over one and barely escaped a hard fall.

I readily agreed with him because a few days ago I saw a woman who had sustained painful injuries when she fell over a bicycle that had been left on its side nearly in the middle of the sidewalk in one of the busiest parts of the city.

The woman had a bad contusion of one hand and complained of injuries to both legs as result of the fall suffered.

Apparently it is now the bicycle instead of banana peels that trip the pedestrians if they do not keep a careful lookout as they walk along the obstructed sidewalks.

"Why do the people around here call highways 'pikes'?" asked a man from the west who was in the city one day this week.

His question brings to light a bit of interesting information that is not generally known regarding the "pikes" in this part of the country, and the fact that the usage is gradually giving way to highway or just plain road.

A great many years ago when some of the mud roads or "traces" through the wilderness or near wilderness that is now fertile Ohio and Fayette County, were graded and gravelled, toll gates were established at certain places along these improved roads to collect toll for defraying cost of the roads and maintaining them.

In those days a great deal of traveling was done by horseback, and to prevent horsemen from causing their horses to jump over the barriers across the roads (usually long poles) and thus evade paying toll, sharp timbers or "pikes" were set in the poles for making a barrier that turned back all horses.

In order to let the toll-payers through, the pikes were turned aside, and hence improved roads in those days were known as "turn pike roads".

Later the "turn" was dropped, and the roads were known as "pike roads". Still later in referring to roads the natives called them "pikes", so you can see how far fetched the name "pike" is when it is applied to a road.

BABY DEATH RATE LOWEST IN HISTORY

COLUMBUS, June 17.—(AP)—The death rate of babies born in Ohio during 1942 reached a new low, the State Health Department reported today.

The department's annual vital statistics report said the infant mortality rate last year was 37 deaths out of every 1,000 births. This compares with a rate of 42 in the preceding year.

In terms of the 1942 record the in Ohio's history, the report called attention to the fact that children died at rates in the 100's prior to 1914.

REACTION WATCHED IN PACKER SUBSIDY

Payments To Be Made With Roll Back of Prices

CHICAGO, June 17.—(AP)—Packers and commission dealers today watched with interest the effect on business at the Nation's major livestock markets following disclosure by the government of details of subsidy payments accompanying the scheduled roll-back in retail meat prices.

Spokesmen for packers and dealers asserted that the recent slowdown in activity at the stockyards here and in other major centers was due to the uncertainties of the terms of the subsidy payments to packers to compensate them for the roll-back, which seeks to cut consumer prices 10 per cent. The new retail prices become effective next week.

(By The Associated Press) Damage was reckoned in hundreds of thousands of dollars today after wind-lashed cloudbursts, accompanied by lightning, deluged scattered sections of Ohio.

Heaviest destruction, estimated at $250,000, was reported in Cleveland where an electrical-rain storm tied up rail and bus traffic, plunged suburban Fairview Village and Garfield Heights into darkness for several hours and flooded streets and basements last night.

The Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate railroads reported traffic impeded as the downpour flooded their yards, and two bridges were closed. The E. 34th Street bridge, connecting Pittsburgh Avenue and Broadway, S. E., was condemned after pillars under the span were washed out. The Harvard-Denison bridge was closed

TUGWELL'S THEORIES WORRY PUERTO RICO

Accused of Planning To Take Them to U. S.

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO, June 17.—(AP)—Manuel Gonzales, spokesman for the Puerto Rican Farmers' Association, declared last night that Governor Rexford G. Tugwell is using Puerto Rico as a guinea pig for experiments in land and sugar mill regulation and minimum wage laws intended to be transplanted later to the United States mainland, especially in the south.

His assertions were made before the Bell Congressional Committee investigating Puerto Rican affairs.

He declared Tugwell wants to extend a 500-acre ownership limitation to individuals as well as corporations and called the governor "more radical than all the radicals in the legislature."

Negro Section Wrecked In Race Fight In Texas

BEAUMONT, Tex., June 17.—(AP)—Col. Sidney C. Mason, in command of state troops enforcing martial law here, said today the Negro section of Beaumont was "literally stomped into the ground" during race disturbances precipitated by two recent rape cases in which Negroes were suspects.

"From a destructive standpoint, it equals the Meuse-Ar-gonne sector of the first World War," Colonel Mason added.

Col. Mason's comment on the damage was made as this southeast Texas city of more than 100,000 persons awoke today un-

85 NAZI PLANES DOWNED BY ALLIES IN ONE RAID

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson disclosed today that 85, possibly 105, German fighter planes were destroyed by American and British fliers raiding Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven last Friday.

In those raids, in which he asserted heavy damage was caused to enemy industrial areas, the secretary added that eight Flying Fortresses were lost.

JAPAN WILL COLLAPSE
WHEN NAZIS LOSE, BELIEF

LONDON, June 17.—(AP)—H. V. Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs, expressed the belief today that Japan would collapse quickly after Adolf Hitler is defeated and said "the certainty of the enemy's defeat applies to the Pacific as well as to Europe."

Balkans About To Explode In Hitler's Face, Indication

By STEPHEN BARBER

CAIRO, June 17.—(AP)—Increasing resistance by opposition groups within Axis satellite countries of southeastern Europe, a situation which Nazi authorities apparently are handling with unusual liberality, was reported today in information reaching Cairo.

Underground leaders in collaborationist Rumania and Bulgaria are becoming more and more outspoken, it was said, and in Bulgaria, where many elements have strong ties with the Soviet, there has been a resurgence of the old "Mother Russia" sentiment.

The extent to which disaffected groups in Rumania are permitting themselves to give voice to their dissatisfaction was indicated in a recent speech by Baron Manfred von Killinger, German minister to Bucharest.

"We laugh at all these dwarfs," he declared, these anti-Germans, politicians who are nothing but talkative loafers, Jews, pro-Jews and those who are servants of Jews."

Then he added: "All these must take care... our patience will end."

Some quarters here expressed the view that the various underground movements may be moving too fast for their own good, for German technique frequently has been to allow the opposition sufficient rope to hang itself.

The ideal movements for the Allies, it was pointed out, are those which would reach their peak at the moment of invasion of Europe.

(These reports of dissatisfaction within the satellite countries were highlighted by a round-about report yesterday through Turkey that Rumania was sound-

MORE FOOD FOR THOUGHT for the Axis is provided in semi-official reports from London that the border between Turkey and Syria has been closed, possibly to prevent news of movements of large numbers of British and American troops from reaching the Axis. The border is indicated by the heavy black line on this map. The report added to Axis anxiety over possible invasion. (International)

Big Hoards Of Food Reported Found In Jap Camps In West

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—(AP)—Testimony of secret hoards of food stocks, some of which he said he believed had been traded by Japanese for whisky and chickens was given a Dies Congressional sub-committee by a former employee of the Heart Mountain Relocation Center in Wyoming.

Earl A. Best, a wounded veteran of Dunkerque, told the committee yesterday he was sent to Heart Mountain last December as an associate steward after having served for a time as chief steward at the Poston, Ariz., relocation center.

During a month-long inventory of food at the Heart Mountain camp, Best said, he found 36 of the center's 42 kitchens and supplies hidden in their attics.

In one of them, he declared, a Japanese cook showed him secret pantries reached by sliding doors in the kitchen walls, one of them about five by 15 feet in size and piled to the ceiling with food-stuffs.

In another mess hall the Japanese had built a stage and the space beneath it was packed with canned goods, Best said. He notified the project director about the secret store rooms, he added, but no action was taken.

"At one time while I was there, there were 10,000 gallons of mayonnaise, when they were using only 600 gallons a month," Best testified. "Much of this supply had gone back to oil."

"There was a 65-months' sup-

25 Men From Torpedoed Ship Saved After 15 Days Adrift In Lifeboat

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—(AP)—Chilled by rains and seared by the sun, 25 men jammed in a small lifeboat from their torpedoed merchantman rode out the South Pacific swells for 15 days—until an army Flying Fortress spotted them as they were on the verge of starvation.

The story came today from George Atchison, 20-year-old navy seaman, first class, who returned home to await his next assignment.

They spotted a floating cocoon on the seventh day, he said, and carved it into 50 pieces, two for each man. Their normal daily ration was two biscuits and a malted milk tablet apiece.

On the 15th day a Flying Fortress spotted the boat and soon a transport came over and dropped coffee, cigarettes and canned food. "It was awfully tough rowing about a half-mile to where those supplies fell, but we made it—and how good those cigarettes and coffee tasted! We drank the coffee out of a steel helmet one fellow wore."

Aerial Attacks To Soften Up
Invasion Routes in West

By ROGER GREENE

(By The Associated Press) While Rome and Berlin rang the changes on prospects of the "zero hour" approaching for an Allied invasion, the spotlight shifted momentarily from Sicily, Sardinia and Italy to the eastern Mediterranean and the Balkans.

An Algiers broadcast (not always strictly accurate) reported that Turkey, still neutral but recently swinging toward the Allied camp, had broken off diplomatic relations with the pro-Nazi government of France.

The Algiers report lacked immediate confirmation, but Berlin asserted yesterday that Britain was "trying to bring Turkey in on her side."

From other widespread sources came a flurry of reports that major events were brewing in the Balkan-Middle East arena.

Germany Blasted
British block-buster armadas thundered new destruction on the German home front before dawn today, hammering the Rhineland war foundries city of Cologne for the 116th time, while RAF fighters shot up transport and other targets in Nazi-occupied Holland and Belgium.

By daylight, Allied planes carried on the round-the-clock offensive across the English Channel and destroyed six Axis fighters against a loss of one RAF aircraft.

Fourteen RAF bombers and one fighter were listed as missing in the night's operations.

FOOD SUBSIDY FOES TEMPER OPPOSITION

President's Challenge Puts Them on Spot

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Congress, striving for a summer recess by July 10 was embroiled today in a series of arguments that held possibilities of holding the law-making body's first real vacation since the Pearl Harbor attack.

The senate appeared set for a knock-down floor fight on the plan of the office of price administration to roll back food prices by subsidizing producers with federal money. Opponents of the program, while demonstrating a decided willingness to tangle in debate, showed an indication to temporize.

Some members of the banking committee said they would be attentive to a move to restrict subsidies to a certain ceiling. Up to now, they have been talking only of an outright prohibition.

Brown wrote Davis because an Ohio feed manufacturer reported that farmers were refusing to part with stored corn at ceiling prices, choosing to feed the grain to pigs and eventually take advantage of the higher pork ceiling.

BLOW-UP PREDICTED WITHIN OWI SOON

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Look for a major personnel blow-up in the Office of War Information (OWI) soon—involving Director Elmer Davis, one of his top executives and maybe even the White House.

That was the word today from D. C. Speaker, strictly unofficial but well-informed District of Columbia news source.

"Ironically," said D. C. the mythical capital spokesman who represents authentic but unquotable sources, "the row is coming to a climax right after a speech by Davis in which he inferentially decried giving too much attention to personal squabbles in our war agencies."

BIRTHS DURING MAY TOTAL 31 AND DEATHS 22

Eighteen Births and 14 Deaths Occur in This City

During the month of May 31 births and 22 deaths were reported to the Health Department in Fayette County.

Eighteen of the births and 14 deaths were in Washington C. H. and the remainder were divided as follows: Bloomington one birth; Concord township, one birth and one death; Madison township, two births and one death; Paint township, two births and three deaths; Perry township, two births; Union township, two births and one death; Wayne township, two births and two deaths.

Following is a list of births as announced by the Health Department, for the month of May: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Geesling, daughter, Vivian Marie, Bloomington, R. R. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Willis L. Anthony, daughter, Barbara Jean, 827 South Hinde Street.

after the street caved in at one end. Water backed up to a depth of three and a half feet on some streets, and on others the paving buckled and crumbled. Lightning struck a street car and bus, but no passengers were hurt. The heavy rainfall caused a retaining wall at Benedictine High School to collapse, crushing garages housing eight automobiles and starting a fire in a six family apartment house. Battalion Chief Clarence E. Ryan said the blaze caused $4,500 worth of damage. Pennsylvania railroad officials said 20 inches of water covered the main tracks in the road's yard at East 93rd Street and Kinsman Road, blocking traffic for more than two hours. Several tracks were washed out and the roundhouse flooded. Nickel Plate schedules fell an hour behind when water interfered with the block signal system. Streets in the Kinsman Road area were turned into torrents as sewers were unable to carry away the runoff. Water gushed up through manholes and trapped motorists in their cars. Widespread damage from rain, wind and lightning also was reported in Zanesville, Newark and Cincinnati. More than 100 trees were uprooted at Zanesville, several of them damaging buildings in falling. A large oak tree crashed against a two-story double house and moved it several inches. A branch ripped through the roof of the Keck Funeral Home and falling trees damaged the roof of the dance hall and another

INVASION TIME

Invasion time is coming Hirohito, do you hear, The cannon's roar, the bombs and bursting shell, Pantelleria is a sample of the things we'll do to you, If the white flag isn't floating when we come marching through.

With our air planes over head, and our ships just off the shore And our gliders sliding down with our troops galore, We'll march right through to glory, for our job will be well done.

Hirohito do you hear me! Why do you act so dumb? Now here is little Tojo and little Adolph too, They have been such naughty boys Hirohito just like you, We will have to tune them up a bit, and wipe them of the earth.

So freedom can be free to reign, all around the earth. Then when our boys come marching home with nothing else to do, We'll make this world a better place, because we're rid of you.

Where king's can feel like working men and working men like kings. Such freedom as that will stand the test, Brotherly love, God planned it best.

Crippled Yank Bomber Beats Off 15 Attackers

CAIRO, June 16—(AP)—How an American B-24 Liberator, two of its four engines in flames, beat off a mass attack by 15 Axis interceptors while returning from a bombing raid over Sicily was told today by its pilot, 22-year-old Lieut. Clarence W. Gooden, of Waycross, Ga.

"We had just left the target—a Sicilian airdrome," said Gooden, "when the sky suddenly blackened with enemy fighters. One of them caught our No. 4 engine, setting it afire. It was not long before No. 3 engine burst into flames. By now we were all alone—we didn't have enough power to stay with our formation and it went along without us."

"It was a lonesome feeling with those 15 fighters on our tail coming at us from all directions with their guns spitting right into our faces."

"But we were not exactly idle. Our gunners were in the argument, too. Staff Sergeant Roland S. Cox, an 18-year-old kid from Plainville, Ohio, was pouring lead from his tail gun. Waist gunners Technical Sergeant Oscar W. Houser of Philadelphia and Staff Sergeant Alexander M. Cochran of Lynn, Mass., dished it out from the waist windows. Staff Sergeant T. S. Hendricks, our aerial photographer and utility gunner, who hails from Little Rock, Ark., was also hard at it."

Everybody under Gooden's command was on the offensive against the attacking fighters. Up front, Lieut. Ralph F. Perkins of Marionette, Wis., handled one of the nose guns. Lieut. William H. McNeil, bombardier from Pensacola, Fla., worked another gun. At the radio was Sergeant Theodore C. Beaudry of Minot, N. D.

Gooden had this to say: "I made Lt. (Donald G.) Johnson (of Akron), my co-pilot, and Staff Sergeant Daniel J. Kreutzer (of Derby, Colo.), assistant radio operator, stay up front when it first started. Bullets just missed my head twice, so I der the watchful eye of some 2400 peace enforcement personnel under his command. The city had its first undisturbed sleep in two days after rioting which started late Tuesday night had taken the lives of one white man and one Negro.

Bus transportation resumed today and most retail establishments were again open for business.

Some establishments had closed because of lack of help after Negroes were ordered off the streets. Others closed to keep crowds from congregating.

Defense guardsmen, Texas rangers and local law officers had the city under guard during the night. Numerous arrests were made for violation of the curfew order barring from the streets all persons not having essential business through the night hours.

Southern Italy Hit Swift RAF Mosquito bombers from Malta continued to blast Sicily and southern Italy during the night, pouring cannon and machine-gun fire into road transport, rail targets, bridges and military hut camps.

A Moscow broadcast said Premier Mussolini's high command had started withdrawing demoralized Italian troops from Sicily and Sardinia "under the pretext of regrouping its forces."

PARTITION SUIT FILED THURSDAY

Beck Estate Involved in Court Action Filed By Heir

Frank Beck, in a suit inaugurated in Common Pleas Court Thursday, makes Forest Beck, Fred Beck, Jean Marie Beck and Carl Beck defendants, and asks partition of the estate of plaintiff's mother, Jessie B. Beck, who died in August, 1921, leaving a will.

Plaintiff states that at the death of Jessie B. Beck she owned a farm of 136.40 acres in Union and Concord townships, and under the terms of the will her husband Charles A. Beck was given authority to sell, convey, transfer or reinvest proceeds, and at his death the property was to be divided among the children, subject to the terms of

A charge of $3,500 was made against Carl Beck and the will provided that if he had a wife living, or issue of marriage, that the property go to such wife or issue, subject to the $3,500 estate.

Plaintiff states that Charles A. Beck died June 2, 1943, without selling or disposing of the property.

It is further stated that Carl Beck was married and divorced and has one child, Jean Marie Beck, one of the defendants.

At the time of the death of Jessie B. Beck, it is stated, she left some $5,322.23 in money and personal property after indebtedness was paid, and that this was taken in charge by Charles A. Beck and part of the funds invested in 12.50 acres adjoining the other property in Concord one-fourth part of the two tracts and Union townships.

Plaintiff claims the undivided one-fourth part of two tracts and asks that his portion be set off. Norman McLean and Ray R. Maddox represent the plaintiff.

Burma—Allied bombers pound five Japanese bases.

Trouble in Rumania A Moscow broadcast said Ernest Kaltenbrunner, chief of German security police, had been hurriedly sent to Rumania to reorganize the police there, and declared that the atmosphere in Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, was "very tense."

Many Rumanian political leaders were said to be in hiding.

An Ankara report yesterday said Rumania had sent out peace feelers to the Allies.

Cairo heard that Hungary was also preparing to abandon Hitler's "new order" if the necessity arises.

A Berlin broadcast acknowledged that the Allies had "one hope of possible attack—in southeastern Europe," but asserted that "an invasion will prove a blood bath without precedent," and that "two-thirds of the landing force will be wiped out even before a decisive battle has been joined."

As for Hitler's vaunted Atlantic Wall, stretching thousands of miles from southern France to Norway, the Nazi radio boasted it "may be considered impregnable."

Ominous Lull in Russia In the Russian campaign, Soviet headquarters reported a series of clashes on the long-dormant Smolensk sector, west of Moscow, but on the whole the 1,500-mile battlefield remained strangely quiet.

With the steppes already baked hard in the hot June sun, Hitler's mechanized armies were apparently waiting to see what might happen in western and southern Europe before attempting a new drive to the east against Russia; and by the same token the Red armies were holding back their punch until the critical hour.

Latest reports indicated that the great summer battle, when it starts, will center in the Orel region, 200 miles south of Moscow, where both the Germans and Russians have been massing vast armies and supplies for weeks.

From Orel, Hitler might strike out in a new thrust to the northeast to swing around Moscow and lop off the deep Russian salient now pressing against Germany's Baltic defenses at Velikie Luki.

Persons who live at high altitudes have more blood cells than lowlanders.

FLEE VOLCANO'S LAVA

MEXICO CITY, June 17—(AP)—With molten lava reported advancing at the rate of 70 feet an hour from two craters of Paricutin volcano, all the inhabitants of Parangaricutiro were being removed today to the village of Caltzontzin.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
De Gaulle's Bid for Prestige
Immobilizes French Force
As Potent Factor in War

(While DeWitt Mackenzie is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of the Associated Press bureau in Tokyo.)

At least one member of the newly formed French Committee of National Liberation has had the common sense to strip the organization of its political implications and get down to what he thinks is the basic purpose—a united France.

It is unfortunate that the chief protagonists, Generals De Gaulle and Giraud, cannot be as objective and end their cautious sparing for position, since so much is at stake for all of us.

The question as to whether one is a Giraudist or a De Gaulle is not important, Henri Bonnet, who is minister of information in the committee, said in a recent interview. "We have been appointed as a unit for France and we will serve as such."

M. Bonnet is now en route to Algiers, but it remains to be seen what effect his reasonable attitude will have on the two men whose cooperation is so necessary for a successful committee.

Yesterday reliable French sources in Algiers said a scheduled luncheon meeting between De Gaulle and Giraud had been canceled, but today it was disclosed they met in private, evidently preferring to discuss their differences of opinion without too large an audience.

The Associated Press correspondent in Algiers said he believed the meeting resulted in added strength for De Gaulle, with some unspecified concessions on Giraud's part.

The current impasse, which stems back to the pre-war period and France's antiquated and complex political structure for its beginning, is made more complicated by the comparative financial positions of De Gaulle and Giraud.

On the one hand, De Gaulle gets virtually all of his funds from the British.

On the other hand, Giraud not only has money, but he also has supplies, such as oil and peanuts and wine and plenty of mutton, to trade with the United Nations for the necessary weapons of war. Besides, he has sent a substantial sum of money in gold to the United States.

Regardless of what turn the joint committee squabble takes, it will be the American general, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has the final say—if he so wishes. Africa will remain the province of the commanding general of the United Nations armies for a long time to come, and the French can't move without consulting him first.

That means the British also have the right to approve—or disapprove—of any suggestions made since it is a joint command.

However, until now the Eisenhower policy, and there is no indication of a change, has been to take a strictly hands off attitude on any question involving the French which does not touch on military security. There isn't much chance, therefore, that the situation will get out of control with such an arbitrary check-rein ready at a moment's notice.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN WEDES FOURTH YOUTHFUL BRIDE IN SIMPLE CEREMONY

Gertrude E. Berry of New York, has charged in a civil suit that Chaplin is the father of Joan's expected child.

The 34-year-old film comic and Miss O'Neill, 18, daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill, appeared separately at the Courthouse here early yesterday morning to fill out the form necessary for a marriage license.

An hour later they were wed by Justice of the Peace Clinton P. Moore at his home in nearby Carpinteria, "without fuss, feathers or fol-de-rol," as the judge expressed it.

Harry Crocker, newspaper columnist and friend of Chaplin, and Miss Catherine Hunter, the comedian-producer's press representative, witnessed the ceremony.

Chaplin was so fidgety when he visited the Courthouse, said Deputy County Clerk Ira Altshul, that he could hardly hold the pen and even forgot to remove his hat. He was still nervous during the marriage in the judge's home. Taking the gold ring that Crocker handed him, he thrust it on Miss O'Neill's finger and then, somewhat self-consciously, kissed her.

Shortly after the wedding party left the house Chaplin discovered that Judge Moore, 78-year-old retired Methodist minister, likewise had been a bit nervous. He had spelled Chaplin's name "Chapman" on the certificate. The comedian hastened back for a corrected copy.

HONEY FLOW ON AFTER SERIOUS LOSS OF BEES

Third of Colonies Starve To Death During the Winter Months

Fayette County bee-keepers say that at the present time a heavy flow of honey is being stored by bees after one of the worst springs for bees in recent years, and if conditions continue favorable the store of honey will be nearly as large as usual.

As a result of the long period without adequate honey for food, the bees suffered heavy loss throughout Ohio, and the estimated 310,000 colonies last year dropped to approximately 200,000 colonies by the first of June, according to observers. It was necessary for many beekeepers to feed their bees as soon as weather permitted, but sugar shortage prevented extensive feeding of sugar syrup to the bees.

Bees are classified as among Mother Nature's most active pollinating agents, and pollination is necessary if there is to be an ample fruit crop and other crops in Ohio.

Now comes the State Highway Department and announces that due to the fact that highway tractor equipment has been loaned to farmers and roadsides have not been mowed on time, that flowers along the roads including clover and other sources of honey, are contributing extensively to the store of honey.

There are more than 214,000 acres of marginal land along the state system of highways and the county and township roads in Ohio. That acreage, apiarists declare, will provide much food for honey bees, if the honey-producing plants are not destroyed by mowing or burning.

Bees are worth much more to farmers than the honey they produce. There is the beeswax, for instance, as well as the work they do in plant and fruit crop pollination. There is a shortage of beeswax, used for the protection and lubrication of shells for American weapons. The shortage is so critical that housewives are asked to salvage it, just like they salvage fats from their cooking.

FACTORY ROOF COLLAPSES IN RAIN IN YOUNGSTOWN
YOUNGSTOWN, June 17.—(P)—Thirteen persons were injured, none seriously, last night when a portion of the roof of the Commercial Shearing and Stamping Co., collapsed during a rain and electrical storm. Police said the weight of the falling rain caused the roof to give way.

4-H Club Activities

SNAPPY STITCHERS

Becky Shonkwiler was the hostess at the last meeting of the Leesburg 4-H Club, the Snappy Stitchers.

After the meeting was called to order by the club's president, the roll was called and the members answered with their favorite name, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary.

The next session of the club will be held Thursday, June 17, at the home of Maxine Cox. Also at the next meeting, the Snappy-Stitchers, and the Robert McFadden 4-H Club will have a combined meeting.

To end the meeting, refreshments were served and some games were played.

VICTORY SEWING CLUB

The Bookwalter Victory Sewing Club held its fifth meeting of the year at the home of Norine Stockwell where the girls worked on their sewing.

Games also were played and refreshments were served.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Bette Allen.

SPOON AND THIMBLE

With the absence of the president, the vice president called the fifth meeting of the Olive Spoon and Thimble 4-H Club to order.

After the roll was called, the outline for the rest of the year was read by the secretary, and the minutes of the last session of the club were heard.

The dress making projects were worked on, and most of them are nearly finished. The class that is working on nutrition then put some interesting material in their scrap books, and a demonstration of the scrap books was given by Mary Nilan.

Interesting entertainment was provided by the recreational committee, with Delores Morris as chairman.

The nutrition class served cooling refreshments.

Three guests were present at this session, they were: Mrs. Grace Rheims, Ruby Thompson, and Hazel Lambert. The advisor is Mrs. James F. Nilan. The next meeting will be held June 23, at the Olive School Building.

VICTORY STITCHERS

With their advisor, Barbara Lee Clark, the Madison Victory Stitchers met at the Madison Township school for their 4-H meeting.

The nine members present answered the roll call with the name of their favorite flower.

After the business meeting, an interesting program was presented by the recreational committee of the club under the leadership of Ethel Bower. This ended the days' meeting and the next session of the club will be held June 22, 3:00 P. M. at the school building.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TURBULANT BALKANS ABOUT TO EXPLODE IN HITLER'S FACE, BELIEF

ing out the Allies on what she might gain by withdrawing from the war.)

Reports reaching here indicate that Hungary is laying plans to abandon Hitler's "new order," if the necessity arises.

By MAX HILL

Turkey has picked her winner in the war. There no longer can be any doubt that she has climbed down off the diplomatic fence and decided the United Nations are the best bet.

This probably does not surprise either the Axis or the Allies but just the same it is a body blow to Hitler, and it exposes one of the soft spots in his vaunted fortress of Europe-to attack—the Balkans.

Two years ago Turkey would not have dared treat the Axis with such chilling scorn as Premier Sukru Saracoglu did yesterday. He expressed warm friendship for America, Britain and Russia, and their aims in the war. His remarks concerning Germany were tepid and restrained, to say the least.

It has been evident for some time that we held the whip-hand in Turkey, and that Franz von Papen has failed utterly and completely in another mission for Hitler. But it was not an openly admitted fact. Now it is.

Turkey hasn't even voiced a technical protest over the closing of the Syrian border, a move which was said by British embassy sources in Ankara to be necessary to shield troop movements.

It is known that both Britain and America have great quantities of war materials and large armies in India, not too far away. Might this be the source of a good part of the offensive power the United Nations seem to be massing in the Near East?

This latest development in the global war is a definite threat to Hitler's vital oil supply in Rumania, much more important to him than the support of Italy, and the uncertainty in Berlin should have doubled with the semi-official reports from Ankara that Rumania had put out peace feelers. Through a neutral diplomat she wanted to know what the attitude of the United Nations toward her would be, should she withdraw from the war. Hitler can hold such countries as Rumania only by force and by winning, which isn't the case just now.

When the tomb of Tutankhamen, who ruled Egypt about 1350 B. C., was opened, vases containing quantities of still fragrant aromatics were found.

NATIONAL GOP CHAIRMAN WON'T BE AT OHIO CONFAB

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., June 17.—(P)—National Republican Chairman Harrison E. Spangler announced today that other plans will make it impossible for him to be in Columbus next week during the national governors' conference.

Previous reports said he had called a meeting of Republican governors next Tuesday at Columbus.

"I had planned to see some of the Republican governors informally," he said. "No formal meeting ever was scheduled."

BOMBING RESULTS

Herr Goebbels is worried about the Germanic power of endurance. Instructing Nazi newspaper stooges in the lies they are to write, he conceded that the Huns can't take it. That is no news to the rest of us, who have seen other sadistic bullies cave in as soon as the going got tough.

It is, of course, the increasing weight of Allied air power that discourages Nazi Joe. A controlled press can keep many secrets, but can hardly persuade the residents of Essen, for instance, that Goering controls the air. Almost non-stop bombing is cracking the German shell.

Nevertheless, we should not read too much into this. It does not mean, unfortunately, that the Reich is about to collapse and capitulate. No realistic observer expects victory to come until infantry and tanks are, at the least, on their way overland to Berlin.

Bombing can win the war. How it can do this is most easily understood by going back to the last days of Cape Bon.

There some 250,000 crack German troops, as good as any fighting men in the world, were concentrated in a tiny area. They had only a short space to defend, across the neck of the cape, and the mountainous interior was ideal for defense. Yet they collapsed in a matter of hours.

Why?

Because no modern army, however capable, courageous and ably led, can fight without tanks, planes, guns, munitions. And we had cut off these quarter of a million men from the tools of their trade.

Bombing can win the war by doing the same thing on a greater scale and by a different process.

Some experts say that if we can devastate less than a score of key German cities as we have destroyed Essen, the war will be won.

Those cities are the sources of the most vital armaments and munitions. At the same time they are being devitalized, transportation and communication lines throughout Hitler's "fortress of Europe" will be broken up.

Then, when Anglo-American-French forces establish their bridgeheads and start for Berlin, the Axis defenders, will find themselves as impotent to resist as were the defenders of Cape Bon.

SUBSIDIZING MISTAKES

Steps taken by government agencies to reduce food prices threaten the life of the retail food distribution industry. These agencies hesitate to tackle the inflation problem at its roots where it would affect one and all alike. Failure to establish an adequate tax and war financing program, temporizing with pressure groups, appeasement of labor racketeers, political aspirations that take precedence over the welfare of the nation—all of these things contribute to the rising cost of living. And it is the merchant who must pass the accumulated costs on to the ultimate consumer, as those costs are beyond his control.

Irrationally, the politicians, as they

Hints on Etiquette

Be patient and good-natured with clerks in shops and waiters and waitresses in restaurants these days. Such places are short of help and the help they have is often new to the work, maybe older people who have retired but have come back into service to help out from patriotic motives.

Today's Horoscope

If today is your birthday, you have a pleasant, sunny disposition. You are kind, energetic, restless if not constantly occupied, and have a firm desire to get ahead. You like to travel and to make new friends wherever you go. A major problem should settle itself easily this morning, making the pattern of your hopes well ordered and clear. It may be hard to be cheerful today after you hear a tale of woe, but proceed slowly, undisturbed by the distracting influences that come with the sacrifice of time and money. Try to bear the burden without complaint.

witness their mistakes advertised on the price tags of necessities, are seeking to force food distributors to cover up for them by establishing prices wholly out of line with costs.

The mistakes of food administration in the war emergency cannot be kept from the public by a "cover-up" policy which attempts to make retailers the goat. Retail distributors have done a good job of carrying out price and rationing controls, just as they have in maintaining an efficient distribution system in the face of overwhelming handicaps. But they cannot and should not be expected to subsidize the mistakes of government.

Attempting to "roll back" or "freeze" retail prices before the cost of production is controlled, is like trying to hold back the tide by an edict that it shall not rise.

A QUEER THEORY

One reason why so many government war controls break down in practice may be judged from testimony given by Fred C. Heinz, of the 57 varieties, concerning his experience as member of a business advisory group.

Wartime regulations concerning soup were framed. Were experienced soup canners asked for advice, or even for technical information, in advance? Not at all. "They were just called in and told about it," testified Mr. Heinz—"it" being regulations already promulgated.

"As I understand it, these agencies when dealing with any particular product want men to handle the matter who are entirely unfamiliar with it. This is based on the idea that if they know anything about the business they might be prejudiced."

There is plenty of evidence that this applies to more industries than soup canning.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Notes from the Capital news beat:

Insiders are saying that it was little James F. Byrnes who dipped his finger in the income tax pie and brought up the compromise. He did it, report has it, by tipping off some of the diehards, like House Ways and Means Chairman Doughton, that the President would sign a compromise pay-as-you-earn, skip-a-portion measure like that finally adopted.

A Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference now is considered a certainty here, but hardly anyone considers it worthwhile to guess where or when.

Not since Lincoln made his famous remark about Grant and his whisky has there been a story more likely to go down in history than that credited to Churchill who was addressing one of his generals who neither smokes, drinks, chews, dances or dips snuff—and who prays devoutly morning and evening as well as before battle. "General," reportedly said the salty Prime Minister, "you are indomitable in retreat; invincible in attack—and insufferable otherwise."

Harold L. Ickes has really been hitting the jackpot. For months he has been ruminating about the coming crisis in gasoline in the east (fuel oil, too, but that won't be felt until next winter). Nobody paid any attention to him. Now other agency chiefs, officials, and so-so's are pretty frantic—and Ickes' telephone wires are hot. What all callers want to know is: "What are we going to do about it?"

Speaking of "roll-backs," the Army estimates that renegotiation of contracts since we seriously got down to being the arsenal of democracy has saved the government nearly two billion dollars—$700,000,000 in actual cash refunds on work already done.

The drive to get more women in wartime industries seems to have struck a snag. The Census Bureau says there were no more women in non-agricultural pursuits in May than in the previous months. Some observers now think that the greatest obstacle now is inadequate day care for children of mothers who would like to work. A nationwide government-financed program would add millions to the already 14,000,000 women in industry.

One of James F. Byrnes' duties as OWM director is to put a stop to all intra and interagency squabbling. Rumor has it that he has already passed the word along. His solution, it's said, is quite simple—"fire the troublemakers, no matter what side of the fence they are on."

Just for what it's worth, some Congressional pulse-takers are predicting that not only will the anti-poll tax bill pass at this session, but also the long-embattled anti-lynch legislation. Don't put us down as among the predictors yet.

Nail Polish Eczema

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE VARIOUS eruptions on the skin of the hands which are so common in housewives can be divided into five or six classes.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The commonest of all—as is likely to be the case in skin eruptions on the hands of anybody—are those due to ringworm infection. The housewife macerates the skin of her hands in hot, soapy dishwater and makes it an easy field for entrance of the little spores of the ringworm which are scattered around on the arms of chairs, window ledges, in fact, nearly everywhere in our modern civilization.

Another large group are allergic or contact forms of dermatitis. Besides plant contacts, if she has a garden, the housewife may make contact with soaps, cleaning powders, dyes, polishes and many other substances which in about five per cent of people cause a dermatitis.

In this group—not strictly speaking of housewives—is nail polish eczema. This occurs not particularly frequently, but often enough to make it a troublesome condition in those who use nail polish, particularly of the darker and more ornate kinds.

Locations of Eczema

While nail polish eczema usually appears first on the skin around the nail beds and at the ends of the fingers, it may fool everybody for a long time by appearing on the face and eyelids, which the patient touches with her recently polished nails. In order of frequency, after the fingers and eyelids, the location for this eczema may be the neck, chin, cheeks, tips of the ears and the arm pits.

In studying a group of these cases it was found that it was not the dye in the polish which caused the eruption; colorless lacquer produced it almost as often as the colored nail polish. Skin patch tests done on a series of patients with 25 substances used in the manufacture of nail polish showed that a substance called formaldehyde-sulphonamide resin was the only one which gave a positive reaction in the patients and a negative reaction in the control subjects.

The control subjects were those who were not sensitive to polish or lacquer and who did not have an eczema. This causative agent, this resin, is widely used in modern manufacturing. Such familiar household objects as imitation leathers, glass beads, metal jewelry, hairpins, pencils, celluloid playing cards and straw hats may be encased with this resin.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

I. M.: I would like some information on fallen or floating kidney. Is it curable? Is it serious?

Answer: A kidney floats when the ligaments that hold it in place become loosened. This happens very often in thin people, who also tend to have dropped stomach and dropped intestines. It seldom causes any trouble, although occasionally there are attacks of pain when the kidney gets twisted. Surgery used to be the favorite form of cure but nowadays most of them respond to corsets, time, and a fattening diet.

J. M.: What are the symptoms and causes of Iritis?

Answer: Iritis is an inflammation of the iris of the eye. It is due to an infection of some sort, but in the common form the nature of the infection is unknown. The symptoms are pain and redness and aversion to light. Nearly all cases get well, but recurrences are common.

CHAPTER THIRTY

THE RANCHO CASOLINA was slow in organizing for its day's work the morning after the close of the fiesta. The exhaustion of the morning after seemed to permeate to the lowliest peon. It was 11 o'clock before Miguel had the boys clearing up the debris in the patio and courtyard, and Maria had the girls mopping the tiled floors.

Mrs. Parkinson came down first, serene, though pale, in a brightly flowered house coat.

"Bring us our breakfasts out on the terrace this morning," she said to Maria. "Some iced melons, and the coffee very strong, and fix Mr. Parkinson's eggs with cream and Roquefort cheese. Did Miss Marsden have her breakfast before she left?"

Maria dipped into the deep pocket of her voluminous apron and held forth Jean's note. "I find this in her room," she shrugged.

Parkinson came from the direction of the stables to take his place opposite his wife at the table. He was nervous and irritable. "I think the stable boy has been too excited over the fiesta," he growled. "Silver Heels isn't looking so good."

Mrs. Parkinson laughed.

"Your nervousness always goes to your weakest spot. That horse!"

She pushed Jean's note across the breakfast table to him.

"Jean's gone back to the hotel," Parkinson gave her a quick glance before scanning the letter. "What does it mean?" His voice was low; his fingers holding the note trembled.

Mrs. Parkinson was waving to Curley, ambling sleepy-eyed and yawning across the patio toward them. She answered her husband in a quiet voice, not dropping her smile.

"Nothing. She was tired after the fiesta. And her work at the factory has been piling up."

"Why didn't she discuss it with us?" Sharp irritation edged his tones.

Mrs. Parkinson laughed as Curley came up to the table. "Because she knew we'd talk her out of going," she answered lightly. "My husband is putting because Jean went back to the hotel this morning," she explained to Curley.

Curley's sunny sleepiness left him. Disappointment went visibly over him like an electric shock. Mrs. Parkinson reached out to pat his hand maternally as she poured his coffee.

"It's a shame, Curley—and just as we were making progress, too." Curley took a long draught of the black coffee and made a wry face. "I wasn't making such hot progress lately," he admitted. As he set down his cup, Mr. and Mrs. Parkinson's eyes met silently.

"Well, cheer up," Mr. Parkinson said. "There are two schools of thought, you know, on courting technique. The proximity school's pretty strong, but still the 'absence makes the heart grow fonder' has a big following, too."

"Yes," Curley grinned darkly, "except when—"

As if called forth by his thoughts, Rosita appeared on the flagged steps. She was in a starched white dress, heavily embroidered, a red belt encircling her tiny waist, high-heeled slippers on her feet. Her black hair was tied with a red ribbon. She smiled at Curley as Miguel hurried away. "I'm having a little bidding on this feed business. The prices of bran and oats are bad enough this year at best. I wish you'd get out the station wagon and go down for Thompson, the foreman. I want him in on this conference. No hurry."

Curley tossed aside his napkin. "I'm through." He swaggered off, adjusting his wide sombrero with loving care.

Mrs. Parkinson laughed at his braggadocio swagger. "You are a handsome brute, but you do know it!"

"Sure," Curley grinned back at her. "Why not?"

When she turned back, her husband was pouring himself another cup of coffee. He had slumped into another period of nervousness. "So now Rosita and Curley are at loggerheads," he muttered irritably. "I tell you, Louise, that little Mexican hothead is going to explode one of these days. With everything else I have to worry about, that would be the final straw! Of all the ridiculous, crazy people we have to put up with—just because we buy her ranch! I tell you we've got to get rid of her! If we don't, we'll regret it—I know it as well as I know my name is—"

"William Parkinson," Mrs. Parkinson's beautifully arched brows raised in quizzical amusement. Her voice was low and soothing. She smiled at him until he reluctantly admitted her cause for levity with an upward twitch of his well-shaped lips. Then she went on quietly, "I don't think we did wrong in keeping Rosita with us. She has told us so many interesting stories. And if she proves eventually too unbalanced for life—if she should still choose suicide one of these days—the entire countryside would realize we have at least given her a few months of happiness."

Her eyes, meeting her husband's across the table, were blue pools of serenity. His gaze was held by them for a moment. Then he stood up.

"All right," he said heavily. "I'll see those grain men now."

She walked with him to the doorway. "I'll send Curley to town for some sedatives for you," she promised. "This is all your nerves again. You'll be fine when you've had some sleep."

Human Scramble of Grain Pits Vanishes

By GILES FINDLEY

CHICAGO — A pert and hurrying girl ducked around a janitor sweeping off the steps of the Chicago board of trade's wheat pit at 10:20 A. M., and neatly stepped over the butt of a half-smoked cigar.

What's odd about that? And what's odd about the table in the corner stocked with newspapers and late magazines, flanked by huge leather lounging chairs?

Well, they typify a few of the changes that have come over the world's largest grain exchange, austere and formal with almost a century of hide-bound rules and regulations.

Girls—many of them—now are pages on the floor of the exchange where for more than 90 years not even feminine royalty or famous actress beauties were allowed.

The janitor was brushing the steps at an hour when, in past peacetime years, his long-handled, yard-wide broom would have menaced the life and limb of racing messengers and bustling traders.

The cigar butt, perhaps, was more typical of the changes than any other. Cigars indicate leisure, psychologists tell us, while a cigarette is the smoke of a busy man.

The old regulations of the board of trade forbade smoking on the trading floor from the opening gong at 9:30 A. M., until the closing bell at 1:15 P. M. Now, although there's no smoking in the trading pits, there are huge leather chairs in the corners and in that wide open space utilized as a library reading corner, where traders, messengers, or anybody who chooses may sit and smoke.

In the hustle and bustle of a few years back, a man who wanted to smoke dashed into the corridors for a few quick drags from a cigaret. Now he relaxes in comfort and smokes cigars.

Standing prominently near the door used to be the giant weather map of the United States covered with glass. Marked on the glass were osobars, arrows shooting wind directions, figures denoting precipitation and all the various legends indicating present weather conditions and prospects for the next 24 hours.

This is gone. For a long time after Pearl Harbor it stood there with a little painted note indicating that forecasts were suspended for the duration. Finally it vanished.

Wheat traders have always been the aristocrats of the exchange. When the new building was built in the late '20's, the wheat pit was erected four steps high, with a yard-wide platform at the top and then four more steps going down inside. In the center of the octagonal, teakwood pit, was a little flat space at floor level where the busiest and biggest traders congregated.

When the janitor swept up the cigar butt, a solitary trader was idly swinging his arms in that center. On the tiered steps where once a thousand traders, messengers and pages fought for space and stood packed like human sardines for the entire session, fewer than a hundred men stood by the corn pit, second in importance to wheat, and three steps high, was deserted. On that day not a single sale of corn futures was made. Imposition of ceiling prices have practically eliminated trading in corn.

Over in the oats pit, only two steps, a dozen traders were going through the motions of trading. The provision pit, an unpretentious little affair with only a single step, was, like the corn pit, deserted. Ceiling prices again.

But another little two-step pit, built as an afterthought and used for rye or soybeans, whichever is liveliest, was jammed with rye traders.

Another characteristic of the grain exchange, the Niagara-like roar from the wheat pit, has disappeared, too. Once heard, it was never forgotten. A thousand gesticulating, shouting men, made a noise like no other in the world.

Partial deafness was a characteristic of the veteran grain trader. The constant roar of sound dulled his hearing. Loss of a speaking—or rather a roaring—voice, was an almost insurmountable handicap.

Now it doesn't matter. You can speak in a whisper and be heard.

Buy War Stamps and Bonds, now.

Lions' Club Charter Night Held at Washington Country Club on Tuesday Night

Fifty Guests Assemble for Elaborate Dinner Followed by a Dance; District Governor Young Present for Affair

One of the most outstanding events of the week's social calendar was held on Tuesday evening at the Washington Country Club, when the Lions Club held their ninth annual Charter Night party.

It was an ideal night for the gay affair, to which more than fifty Lions and their ladies were present.

The dinner was served on the veranda and the tables were elaborately decorated with Lions' emblems and streamers of purple and gold. Watergardens of spring flowers were arranged attractively on each table. At each lady's place were gardenias wrapped in cellophane, favors of the evening.

Mrs. Devins, the club hostess, served a delicious chicken dinner.

Mr. John L. Sagar, the retiring president, acted as toastmaster, and greeted members and guests. He then introduced the new officers for the year 1943-44, who are: President, Mr. Harold McCord; secretary, Mr. Paul Van Voorhis; first vice-president, Dr. C. L. Ford; second vice-president, Mr. Loren C. Hynes; third vice-president, Mr. A. E. Weatherly; tail twister, Mr. Robert Terhune; lion tamer, Mr. Dana Kelly; directors, Mr. Clifford Hughes, Mr. W. L. O'Brien, Mr. Homer Birely and Mr. R. B. Tharp.

Mr. Sagar thanked the retiring officers for their splendid co-operation. The club enjoyed a very successful year in undertaking several worthwhile activities. Among these projects were the selling of race programs at the fair from which the club realized $225.00. This fund was used to buy glasses for school children. The Lions worked 100 percent on the Second War Bond Drive and the Red Cross Drive, both of which went over the top. Last fall after the football games the teams and high school faculty were feted by a banquet, one of the nicest ever presented by the Lions. They also fostered the idea of the service men's honor roll on the Courthouse lawn.

One of the features of the evening was the special song books which had been prepared to honor two members in the service, Dr. Ray Nauss and Samuel R. Parrett. Communications from these men were read during the evening and copies were autographed by the members and their wives to be sent to Nauss and Parrett.

Ex-District Governor Warren Young was presented to the group and highly complimented the local club on their past year's record. The new district governor, Norman L. McLean was then introduced and promised to his district his loyalty during the coming year.

The dinner hour ended and the couples danced until a very late hour to "Mac Toill and His Masqueraders" from Columbus. It was a very pretty scene with the ladies in their party dresses adding a harmony of color to the occasion.

In addition to the twenty-six couples from the local club were: Lion and Mrs. Warren Young, Lion and Mrs. William McIntyre, of Franklin and Mrs. Younger, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ellet Kaufman.

Mrs. Homer Davis Honored Guest At Pretty Shower

Mrs. Alfred Weatherly entertained with a stork shower at her home on North North Street complimenting Mrs. Homer E. Davis (Betty Jane Stewart).

Bouquets of mixed summer flowers were placed at vantage points in the attractive home, giving it a festive appearance.

Clever contests in keeping with the occasion were enjoyed and the prize was won by Miss Marcia Highley.

As the highlight of the evening, guests were invited to the dining room where gifts had been placed on the lace-covered dining table for the honored guest, Mrs. Davis was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts and responded with her thanks.

Tempting refreshments were served at the close of the evening by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hazel McNorton.

Invited guests were Mrs. M. E. Stewart, Mrs. Robert Blake, Mrs. Hazel McNorton, Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., and daughter, Becky, Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Mrs. Ted Irvin, Mrs. Floyd Hughes, Mrs. R. B. Carver, Mrs. Hubert Follis, Mrs. Harriett Jenkins, Miss Mary Jenkins, Miss Alice Davis, Miss Sarah Allerdise, Miss Norma Flee, Miss Patty Adkins of Akron, Miss Marjorie Swartz, Miss Mary Jane Hyer, Miss Christine Switzer, Miss Bertha Switzer, Miss Marcia Highley and Miss Margaret Ferneau.

Mrs. C. V. Lanum Entertains Circle No. 7 Wednesday

Mrs. C. V. Lanum entertained Circle No. 7 of Grace Church at her home on East Market Street Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Haines was in charge of devotions and a short business meeting was presided over by Miss Fannie McLean, the leader.

Several Flag Day and Father's Day readings were given by Mrs. Horatio Wilson, Mrs. Eliza Waddell and Mrs. Webber French. The missionary paper entitled "Send and be Sent" was read by Mrs. May Street.

Following the meeting delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Lanum, assisted by Mrs. Waddell.

One of the high points of the afternoon was when the ladies assembled on the lawn to admire Mrs. Lanum's rose garden. She makes a hobby of cultivating roses and has one of the most beautiful gardens in the community.

Mrs. White Entertains

Circle 10 of the Grace Church met at the home of Mrs. Allen White.

A short business session was held and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Margaret Runnels.

Summer flowers afforded decorations for the afternoon meeting.

In the latter part of the evening the members counted tax stamps for the benefit of the circle.

Clean Camping

Picnics and camping trips may be grand to help you get rid of mental cobwebs, but it is important to observe rules of hygiene and sanitation, too.

Hands require a thorough scrubbing with soap and water before eating. Clean sheets are important. Tin cups should be washed carefully and hair should be kept clean.

Alpha Circle Celebrates Third Birthday with Anniversary Banquet

Child Study Club Entertained with Festive Banquet at Devins Party Home Wednesday Evening

Eighteen members of the Alpha Circle of the Ohio Child Conservation League, attended the annual banquet which marked the third anniversary of the organization, held at the Devins Party Home Wednesday evening.

Kelley green programs penned in white ink marked the place for each member. The centerpiece for the table was of Van Fleet roses, ragged robins and coropsis in a green water-garden, with white candles in green holders.

Mrs. Charles Reinke, president, acting as toastmistress, gave the toast and read a poem entitled "Home." Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis gave the response and ended with an appropriate piece of poetry "Any Mother, Any School" describing the affectionate bonds between mother and child after a few hours' separation.

Mrs. Richard Croaker read an enlightening paper entitled "Children and Religion." She discussed children's ideas of heaven their experiences in saying prayers and their understanding of the Bible. "A child's religious life begins at home," she said.

Committees for the summer picnics were planned. The children's picnic to be held in July will be supervised by Mrs. William Humphries and Mrs. Paul Wichterman. The family picnic is to be planned by Mrs. Richard Croaker and Mrs. Frank Brown some time in August.

A highly amusing resume of the year's activities was presented by the secretary, Mrs. John O'Connor. Three rummage sales and one bake sale were sponsored by the group to increase their capital. Two bonds were purchased and two parties given for the children. Mrs. Robert Helfrich, Mrs. Frank Brown and Mrs. William Himmelsbach were commended for their attendance, while Mrs. John O'Connor and Mrs. Darrell Thornton vied for honors in presenting the most interesting papers.

The hostesses in charge of the preparation for the banquet were Mrs. Wendell Whiteside, Mrs. H. Tracey Hoffman, Mrs. Frank Brown and Mrs. William Himmelsbach. Mrs. Reinke, the president, presented the club with the anniversary cake and lovely favors.

Weatherly motored them to Ft. McKinley, Wednesday.

Mrs. F. L. Dennison, and daughter, Patricia, have returned after a short visit with relatives in Dayton, O.

Miss Ruth Oster, Miss Wilma Jane Woods, granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Benjamin and Mrs. Don Collins of this city returned from Troy Tuesday. Miss Woods plans to enter nurses training this fall.

Missionary Society of First Presbyterian Church Meets on Wednesday

The Missionary society of the First Presbyterian Church met in the church parlors Wednesday at 2:30. Due to the illness of the president, Mrs. A. B. Murray, the vice president, Mrs. Frank Jackson, presided.

The meeting was called to order by a lovely piano number by Mrs. B. F. Davis, pianist.

Mrs. Jackson opened by announcing the subjects for study, The Philippines and the West Indies and reading a short poem, "The Heathens," by Robert Freedom.

The secretary, Miss May Duffee, read the minutes of the last meeting. The treasurer, Mrs. W. B. Hershey gave her report, and Offertory prayer was given by Mrs. A. J. Walker. There was some discussion about the home and foreign box work and the secretary was instructed to write to the home office for information in regards to places where boxes are to be sent. The visiting committee reported 24 calls made. Sympathy was expressed for Mrs. H. W. Melvin, whose sister passed away during the week.

Mrs. A. F. Hopkins announced the committee was having some trouble in getting a guest speaker for the Missionary Tea to be given in July, announcement to be made later concerning the tea.

In the absence of the leader for the afternoon, Mrs. Regina Staubus, Mrs. C. S. Kelly filled that office. Mrs. Kelley opened by reading a poem and for the scripture, chose the 6th chapter of John, closing with prayer. She then called upon Miss Emma Jackson to read the names of those given in the Year Book of Prayer for that day. Miss Jackson read the names, gave something of the history of those named and offered prayer.

Miss Katherine Biehn, talented young musician, gave two lovely piano numbers.

There was then a panel discussion, "The Presbyterian Church in a World at War." This was a most interesting discussion of the various phases of war both in our country and other countries in connection with religious work. Taking part in the discussion were leader, Mrs. G. E. Bidwell, answers given by Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mrs. John Steele and Mrs. John Abernethy.

"Causeway Between the Americas," was an excellently prepared paper given by Mrs. C. R. Philhower. The isles of the Caribbean, Cuba, Puerto Rico and Santo Domingo connect the two countries. The Good Neighbor Policy depends upon the ability of both sides to practice what they preach. The difference in language is one of the difficulties of understanding. The church is part of the national life of these islands.

Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room which was adorned with many vases of lovely flowers.

Cleaning Refrigerators

Every time your refrigerator is defrosted it should be given an all out washing and spilled foods should be wiped up immediately with a cloth moistened with soapy water. Finger marks, food splashes and mop splashes on the outside of the refrigerator should be removed as soon as they occur to preserve the fine finish.

John McIver were in Columbus Thursday in the interests of Craig Bros.

Mr. Hal Summers and Mr. Dale Tool spent Wednesday in Wilmington on business.

Bridge Club Is Entertained by Three Hostesses

Miss Laura Schadel was hostess to her bridge club Wednesday evening at her attractive home on Ogle Street.

Three tables were in play during the evening including a table of guests, Mrs. Willis Coffman, Mrs. Jack Hagerty, Miss Margaret Ashley and Miss Phyllis Chase.

High scores were awarded to Miss Phyllis Pittenger, Mrs. Willis Coffman and Mrs. Jack Hagerty. After a gay evening of bridge, dainty refreshments were served on the small tables. Miniature bouquets were used as centerpieces on each table.

Miss Mayme Kruskamp and Miss Margaret Ashley assisted Miss Schadel in the hospitalities.

At the close of the evening a handkerchief shower was presented to Miss Katherine Biehn who is leaving in a few days for Massachusetts to attend school. She graciously expressed her appreciation for the many tokens of esteem given her by her friends.

Your Shoes

By VIVIAN BROWN

Shoe rationing has taught us to think twice before we discard that "old pair of shoes."

To save our three pairs a year, we must remember to brush suede shoes daily with a suede brush; dust and polish kid, calf and patent leather shoes before putting them away.

The same shoes should not be worn two days in succession or be dried on a hot radiator, which burns and cracks leathers.

In rainy weather we should

always wear overshoes—a new pair of shoes can be ruined beyond repair by a drenching of rain.

Get new lifts when heels become run-down, new linings when necessary, new soles and new laces. Be sure to repair shoes at the first sign of a rip in any seam.

Avoid bad habits of walking, such as scraping soles on floor, knocking heels together, and running over on one side or the other, which wear shoes out rapidly.

We should never wear street shoes around the house and should keep shoe-trees in shoes when not being worn.

Always buy shoes that fit well, because shoes that are too large or too small will lose their shape quickly. No one these days can afford to make the mistake of buying shoes that will have to be discarded because of poor fit and discomfort.

JUST ANOTHER REASON WHY AN AIRPORT NEEDED

Helicopter Lines Are Planned By Greyhound Company After the War

Here's another good reason why Washington C. H. will be in urgent need of an airport after the war—to provide for helicopter travel service which the Greyhound Corporation plans to put into operation after the war.

The Greyhound Corporation plans to set up an "air bus service" after the war, to reach into all parts of the country, and to this end has filed an application for this type of airline with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The Greyhound people propose to operate helicopters or similar aircraft of large carrying capacity to provide passenger, mail and express service over their present 60,000 miles of bus routes.

The helicopter, company officials said, would fit ideally into the plan because it requires such little landing or takeoff room. The plane is practically wingless and through the force of its fan-like rotor spinning above the fuselage takeoff and land vertically.

Its adaptability to commercial uses eventually will be developed, the company said, by the operators and the aircraft manufacturers.

The over-all scheme is to coordinate the new air service with present bus lines and have the service act as a "feeder," not competitor, to present airline companies.

"If our application is approved," said C. E. Wickman, Greyhound president, "we plan air travel available to the millions who live scores or hundreds of miles from the large airports that present airlines must use."

"With helicopters, air travel will be no further away than the nearest bus terminals, rarely more than a few minutes ride by private car or local transportation."

War-time production restrictions make it a post-war plan. But, Wickman said, if the aircraft can be obtained, the company will attempt to start experimental service in the near future between Detroit and Flint, Mich., and intermediate points between Detroit, Cincinnati and Louisville.

GAS RATION CUT BEING OPPOSED BY REP. BROWN

Petroleum Administrator Says, However, Shortage Of Oil May Force It

In spite of assurances from Harold Ickes, the petroleum administrator, that the government has "no secret schemes to invoke rationing to satisfy some quaint philosophy of demanding public sacrifices on the altar of war," and the efforts of a congressional committee, headed by Rep. Clarence Brown, to convince the OPA that the gasoline situation in the east should have no bearing on the rationing in the middle-west, Fayette Countyans are still keeping their fingers crossed with vacation days coming on.

The gasoline shortage in the eastern states because of war-borne transportation difficulties—due in large measure to U-bat attacks on oil tankers off the Atlantic coast—is one of the main causes of worry for midwestern motorists and subject of dispute in congress and governmental war agencies.

Rep. Brown, who speaks for the people of Fayette County in Congress, heads a committee of lawmakers whose purpose, he said, "is to prevent the imposition of any unnecessary further restrictions in the use of gasoline" in the middle-west, which has no oil transportation problems.

"Despite a few unwise statements to the contrary," declared Rep. Brown, "this committee was not organized to fight any other group or to oppose the interest of any other section of the country. . . . The people our committee represent are willing and ready to make any sacrifices or accept any hardships that will help win the war, or save the life of even one member of our fighting forces."

"However, they will not be pleased with, nor will they gracefully accept, any unnecessary restrictions in the use of gasoline simply to satisfy the wishes of those who are unfortunate enough to be living in a shortage area and want the rest of the country to suffer on the basis of 'misery loves company.'"

On the other side, the petroleum administrator foresees depletion of the nation's oil resources and has served notice that stricter rationing is possible. Originally, gasoline rationing, it was said, was imposed as a means of enforced conservation of tires.

The petroleum administrator has frowned on non-essential use of gasoline and warned that rationing would be adjusted to suit war needs but he also has told Rep. Brown's committee that there are no present plans to apply to other sections of the country the severe curbs imposed on the eastern "shortage" area.

Oil Administrator Ickes warned, however, that the possibility of cutting rations in the middle-west involved many factors, among them the shortage of crude oil in some refining areas, the necessity for producing aviation gasoline and other war products, and the necessity of supplying military, farm and essential civilian transport needs before supplying gas for relatively non-essential use.

Resorts and other vacation grounds in Ohio and neighboring states will be placed under surveillance for the next few months to check motorists illegally using gasoline for pleasure trips, the regional Office of Price Administration in Cleveland has announced.

James C. Gruener, regional OPA attorney, said the region's 14 district OPA directors agreed on this plan to assure continuation of the more important transportation of workers to and from war plants "in this critical stage of the nation's rubber program."

"We are giving vacationists fair warning at this time so they may know what to expect should they plan distant vacations," the attorney said, adding that popular fishing points in the region would be included among the places checked.

Gruener declared the OPA would seek first of all to correct abuse of B and C rations granted on an occupational basis. Present ration regulations allow only 90 miles of "free mileage" or non-essential driving per month under the basic A book, although the motorists also may hold a B or C book.

"Our aim is not to deprive the motorist of a needed vacation," Gruener asserted, "but we must keep in mind that any extra use of rubber at this time could not be justified in the light of our present rubber supplies."

Fuel rationing for motor boats likewise prevents their use for frequent, extensive trips, this summer. While boat operations involve no rubber waste, they consume "the same kind of fuel used in automobiles," and gasoline now must be conserved for larger rations.

IN THE ENEMY'S HANDS!—Jap Officer Leonard Strong, looks over trussed-up Barton MacLane and other members of the bomber crew after their forced landing, in RKO Radio's sensational drama of the U. S. Air Force, "Bombardier," starring Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott and featuring Anne Shirley and Eddie Albert. This production, dramatizing the U. S. Army training of Bombardiers, builds up to a spectacular air strafing of Tokio. "Bombardier" at Fayette Sunday and Monday.

essential needs in the region, explained Charles H. Schreiber, regional OPA rationing executive. Inboard motor boats are limited to a supply of 125 gallons for 90 days, while outboards are allotted only 20 gallons for the same period.

The manager of one Cleveland boat supply concern estimated smaller inboards could get from six to nine miles per gallon, while outboards could get from 10 to 18, depending on the size and equipment.

Danville News

Father's Day is another day all should remember. It should be honored this year more than ever before.

So many fathers are on foreign battle fronts, others in camp in different states, they won't have the privilege of being near their children this year.

Other fathers have been killed in action and will never come home.

Some of us have fathers who have been dead for many years, but their memory still lingers, as something sweet and wonderful. Our love for them has not dimmed with the years that they have been gone from us. Those who have the privilege of having their father with them on this day should be very grateful.

A small word of love, spoken to him on "his" day will not cost you a thing and I am sure he will appreciate it very much.

Father is a grand person and is always ready to lend a helping hand to his children. I am sure we are all proud to call our father "Dad."

FINGER OF FDR ON HOME FRONT IN SPITE OF WAR

Policy Does Not Exactly Suit Mobilization Office But They Can't Prevent It

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(P)—Contrary to popular belief and despite demands of the war's higher strategy, President Roosevelt devotes much time to the home front—and may be reluctant to do otherwise.

On the authority of so keen an observer of capital affairs as D. C. Speaker—(Editors: You will be hearing more about what's happening "Inside Washington" from "D. C. Speaker," a strictly unofficial but well informed source of news and information)—there's many an expressed doubt about the success of major behind-the-scenes efforts to shift more of the president's time from purely domestic to war problems.

Outwardly, formation of the new Office of War Mobilization (OWM) with James F. Byrnes at its head and Bernard M. Baruch at Byrnes' elbow has given impetus to this presidential shift. But, says D. C., "some of Roosevelt's closest friends doubt it will all work out—due to his habit of keeping a finger on everything, and Byrnes' reluctance to assert himself."

During recent conferences of Allied war chiefs in Washington, D. C. heard that Churchill kidded Roosevelt for not leaving domestic worries to lesser leaders. It was felt at times that Churchill was able to do a better job of talking shop with military and naval men because he had the advantage of more first-hand knowledge of the war's complex problems and how to cope with them.

Speaker said the OWM-Byrnes-Baruch moves actually were aimed to relieve the president of domestic problems, improve his relations with Congress and put more executive punch into the picture.

"The big question mark," he said, "will be whether FDR and Byrnes can change their natures. Roosevelt has always decided domestic problems personally, and he'll have to swallow pretty hard to turn that responsibility over to someone else. Byrnes is the diplomat and referee, and has never been the hard-fisted boss. Maybe Baruch, always the executive type, has been added for the order-giving punch—but even he seemed surprised and skeptical about the appointment."

The veteran Washingtonian said OWM would ease legislative pressure for a "war cabinet," and that Byrnes could temper congressional anger at the White House and perhaps close up a few gaps in the Democratic party's southern fences, due to his popularity on Capitol Hill.

"However," he added, "a lot of people are saying that unless Byrnes actually has the power of domestic decision and—with his old friend Baruch—asserts himself, Harry Hopkins (OWM advisor in charge of munitions assignments) will be the real boss of the board, as the president's spokesman."

Speaker said most skepticism as to OWM's success hinges on two points, which he said were: (1) Despite having almost the same power for some six months, Byrnes hasn't exercised it; and (2) few super-duper war agencies set up by the president to handle such problems have lived up to advance publicity in the past.

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

A quiet investigation being conducted by a Senate sub-committee, which is delving into non-essential governmental expenditures, has revealed the present Administration has set up fifty government owned and controlled corporations for various purposes. According to the latest report, these corporations employ 109,519 persons and have a monthly payroll of one hundred and nineteen million dollars. Thirty-one of these fifty government corporations are not audited or examined by the General Accounting Office, although the government stands as a guarantor for all of their obligations.

The Treasury Department will soon distribute millions of forms which must be filled out and filed by individual workmen, and their employers, in preparation for collecting the twenty percent withholding tax from wages and salaries, which will become effective July 1. Each employee will be required to furnish a statement to his employer as to his marital status and the number of his dependents, in order to determine the exemption to which he will be entitled. Employers must keep accurate records as to each employee's exemption, wage or salary, and tax deductions made, and represent the government in collecting the withholding tax for the Treasury Department. The extra expense and work involved will greatly add to the heavy burdens the already harassed employer must carry.

The President, through the Treasury Department, is asking this session of Congress to increase the tax income of the Federal government by at least sixteen billion dollars per year. The Administration is recommending individual income taxes be drastically increased—by as much as fifty percent in some brackets. Members of the Ways and Means Committee, charged with the responsibility of bringing in all revenue bills, are generally opposed to any increase in individual income taxes at this time, in as much as most income taxpayers will pay an increase of twelve and one-half percent in taxes during 1944 and 1945 under the provisions of recently enacted tax collection legislation. A slight increase in the already heavy corporation tax rates will be considered, and increases in present excise taxes may be expected. Consideration is also being given to the levying of a general sales tax, but the Administration is opposed thereto. Incidentally, taxpayers may get some help from the bill by Senator Bridges of New Hampshire to make premiums paid on all life insurance in force and effect on December 7, 1941, up to one thousand dollars—or ten percent of net income, whichever is the lower—a deductible item and, therefore, not subject to tax. There is much support for the Bridges proposal and it may be written into law.

A recent survey and test check made by Selective Service inspectors have disclosed many draft registrants eligible for military service have been overlooked or wrongly classified. As a result a more careful check or draft classifications may be made on a nation-wide basis, and it will not be surprising if a new group of selectees totaling almost 10 percent of all those registered, may be found eligible for induction. If future developments bring about such results the drafting of fathers will not begin in August, as originally predicted by General Hershey, but will be delayed until Autumn, and perhaps even until some time next winter.

While the President's new Office of War Mobilization is receiving much publicity and its head, Justice Byrnes, is being mentioned as assistant president and all of that, those who are in the best position to know insist that the real "power behind the throne" is Harry Hopkins, White House resident and long-time personal advisor to the President. Serving with Hopkins as a part of the inner circle advisory group are Judge Samuel Rosenman, Ben Cohen and Justice Felix Frankfurter. They are reputed to be the real war cabinet which gives the orders to Director of War Mobilization Byrnes and all the so-called Czars in charge of price control, rationing, and food, rubber and war material production matters. Justice Byrnes may be the Czar of Czars—but Harry Hopkins and his little crowd of ardent New Dealers are said to actually be running the whole show.

Despite the efforts of a congressional group from the gasoline shortage area in the Eastern states to compel the extension of the ban on all pleasure driving and the reduction in the value of gasoline ration coupons to the rest of the country, it now appears unlikely that such action will be taken. Following a call issued by your humble representative and nine other members of Congress from the Middle West, more than two hundred House members from states outside the Eastern shortage area conducted a meeting and set up a permanent organization for the protection of their constituents against any unnecessary restrictions on the use of gasoline. Oil Coordinator Ickes has announced that further gasoline restrictions, outside the Eastern area, will not be considered at this time.

SAYS SIDEWALK FAULTY, SUES CITY FOR $5,000

Miss Ruth Carr Declares City Neglected To Repair Walk

Miss Ruth Carr, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, makes the City of Washington defendant in a damage action for $5,000, as result of injuries which she claims to have sustained by reason of a faulty place in the front of the Kroger Market, corner Court and Main Streets.

Miss Carr, who is represented by R. M. Winegardner, states that on May 23, 1942, as she was walking on the sidewalk, a cavity or break in the sidewalk near the word "right" in letters imbedded in the sidewalk, caused her to trip and nearly fall, and that the accident, in which she was badly injured, was caused by the carelessness and neglect of the city in not repairing the break in the sidewalk.

She claims the cavity was three inches deep, one to 10 inches wide, and 22 inches long.

As result of the alleged bad condition of the sidewalk, plaintiff claims that she sustained an injury to her left ankle, left knee, right knee, left shoulder, body and hips, and nervous shock, which caused her intense suffering, and necessitated her remaining in bed for sometime. Plaintiff claims she still suffers from the injuries, and that by reason of the injuries she was damaged in the amount of $5,000 for which she asks judgment.

WIFE OF GOVERNOR LOSES GAS RATIONS

Maryland Executive Gets In Jam Over Trip

BALTIMORE, June 17.—(AP)—A special ration board panel revoked last night the "C" gasoline ration book for a state-owned car in which Mrs. Herbert R. O'Connor, wife of Maryland's governor, took a trip to South Carolina, and also suspended Mrs. O'Connor's personal gasoline ration for three months.

The hearing panel decided that Mrs. O'Connor's plea of making the trip to Charleston, S. C., late in March for reasons of her health, could not be considered as part of the "household duties" required of the mistress of government house.

The "C" ration book for Mrs. O'Connor's personal vehicle, which the panel found had been issued "erroneously," was also revoked.

HE PREFERS OHIO JAIL TO KENTUCKY FREEDOM

XENIA, June 17.—(Spcl.)—"I would rather stay in jail in Ohio than be free in Kentucky," declared William Phipps, formerly of Jamestown, who is back in the county jail here.

Phipps was sentenced on an indictment charging him with carrying concealed weapons. The court suspended a $500 fine and six months in jail on condition that he return to his former home in Kentucky and remain there.

Yesterday Phipps returned here and surrendered, making the statement that he would rather lay out the fine and sentence than to be back in Kentucky.

TEMPERATURE DROP COMES OVER NIGHT

Following a series of electrical storms Wednesday evening, accompanied by .12 of an inch of rain here and much more in the main path of the storms, a pronounced drop in temperature took place, and this continued Thursday morning when the reading was 70 degrees at 8 P. M. instead of around 78 as it had been on a few previous mornings.

Peak temperature Wednesday was 89 degrees and last year 69 and 57 were the extremes for the day.

THREE BOYS CITED AFTER PURSE STOLEN

Three boys, two of them 10 years of age and the other 11 years old, were turned over to the Juvenile Court after being taken into custody by the police Wednesday, for stealing a purse containing more than $14, from Mrs. Jess Dailey, of Yeoman Street.

Police recovered $12.59 of the money after taking the trio into custody.

Maine is often called the "Pine Tree State."

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ADDISON DAY

Church Was Filled for the Farewell Rites

Funeral services for Addison Day were held Wednesday at 2 P. M. at the Good Hope Methodist Church, which was filled with relatives and friends to pay tribute to Mr. Day.

Rev. F. M. Moon was in charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Charles Bowen, pastor of the Baptist Church, who read the memoir and paid a personal tribute.

Mrs. W. O. Riley and Mrs. Harold McCoy sang "In the Land Where We'll Never Grow Old" and "It Is Well With My Soul." Mrs. McCoy was at the piano and played at the beginning and close of the services.

The lovely floral gifts were cared for by Phyllis Jones, Jean Rodgers, Harriett Lee Holden, Marcella Finley and Mary Frances Palmer.

Burial was made in the Good Hope Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Marion Rife, Charles Barney, Paul Blackmore, Frank Douglas, Ralph Everhart and Ernest Ellis. Honorary pallbearers were Loston, Clinton and Ira Day and Posey Whaley.

DIES IN HAMILTON; FUNERAL RITES HERE

Funeral services for Clarence Robert Secrest, 5 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Secrest, 215 Court Street, Hamilton, who died in Mercy Hospital in that city Wednesday, will be held at the Church of Christ in this city Friday at 2 P. M., and burial made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

In addition to the parents, the child is survived by the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Secrest, of Washington C. H. and Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney, of Lebanon; two brothers, Walter, Jr., and George William; a half brother, James Arthur Secrest, in the U. S. Army and two half sisters, Clara Ruth and Betty Secrest.

MT. STERLING MAN WOUNDED IN ACTION

Private Elmer C. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Snyder, Mt. Sterling R. 1, is listed among Ohioans who were wounded in action in North Africa.

In announcing that he was wounded, the War Department did not give the extent of his wounds.

The names of two officers and 16 enlisted men from Ohio are included in the list announced Thursday.

RESURFACING TWO HIGHWAYS

Additional Seal Coat Is Being Applied on County Highways

Resurfacing of the Greenfield and Sabina Road and the Stafford Road in southwestern Fayette County will get under way within a short time, and about one inch of material will be added to those roads, County Engineer Robert E. Willis said Thursday.

He also stated that about 80 percent of the roads that are to receive the seal coat have been treated, and that this phase of road maintenance will be finished probably this week.

The hot weather has been ideal for treating the roads.

If material can be obtained, additional roads will be given attention later in the season, Willis indicated.
